

Special Issue on Indian Poetry in English

With a special thanks to the guest editor of the issue

S. B. Barue

S. B. Barure did his M.A. (English) from the University of Pune, Maharashtra. He has been teaching English in since 2006. Presently he is working in the PG Dept of English, Vasantnao Naik Govt Institute of Arts & Social Sciences, Nagpur, Maharashtra. He has published research papers in reputed journals and in anthologies. He has presented papers at national and international level conferences. He has co-edited two books on Indian Drama in English. His areas of interest include Indian Writing in English and Linguistics. . Litsearch is thankful to him for accepting to be the guest editor of the present issue.